Mud Slinging Reacts.

EDITOR CAMERON COUNTY PRESS:—

I do not think the average citizen believes in mud-slinging in politics, especially in county politics. We all, we think, want the best men we can get to fill all our offices, but more especially county offices, for the county matters come nearer our pockets than any other matters. What honest man wants to run for an office if he feels he is to be abused the moment he allows his name to be presented to the public for any office? How long will we be able to get good men to run for any office the county can offer, if mud-slinging is to continue? We think all thoughtful citizens will agree that it is time to call a halt on mud-slinging, and go to work and get the best men we can get for county offices and Representative. Surely no county needs good men more than ours does. I noticed in the Independent of Oct. 6th an article, in my judgment, uncalled for. I have reference to an article headed "A Wail for a Platform and a Declaration of Principles." Surely the writer of that article could not have meant what he wrote. We believe it was written with the idea in view of catching the vote of some disgruntled citizen, but will it? As before stated, we believe our citizens are tired of mud-slinging, and it seems to me the article referred to is full of uncalled for mud-slinging and venom. Every one in the county knows Mr. Josiah Howard, and his great benevolences, but they do not know all of them. The writer knows well many kind acts of Mr. Howard that the general public never knew of, but what the public knows should be enough to send him to Harrisburg with the largest majority ever given a Representative from the county. If the voters of this county do not elect him how can they ever expect a good, clean citizen to allow his name to go before them again for any office of responsibility? The Independent says Mr. Blumle has done ten times more for good roads than Mr. Howard has. That may be true, but we do not think the general public will believe it Mr Blumle has done quite a little for the roads on Plank Road Hollow, but Mr. Blumle was more benefitted by that road than any one else. Mr. Howard has spent hundreds of dollars and given his personal time fixing our streets for the benefit of the public at large, and no one will deny but that our streets are in much better shape than ever before. Mr. Howard, at his own expense, has for years kept open a free library, gymnasium and reading room for the general public. In the afternoon this place is open for the accommodation of the farmers wives and daughters from all over the county, or elsewhere, with a lady attendant to wait on them. He also saw to it that our citizens had a beautiful Park, where the young can congregate any time to play their games, and the older folks can go and rest. He, and he alone, made it possible to have a county fair, who put up the buildings there, cleared the land, and made it possible for all our citizens to have a public place of enjoyment. Perhaps Mr. Howard can tell you better than any one else, yet you never hear this gentleman speak of it. Many other things this gentleman has done, and more improvements are contemplated. Mr. Editor, can the citizens of this county, knowing all this, vote for a man who has not such a record? I do not think they will. Which of the two men has the good of the county most at heart? Which of the two men is likely to be the most useful in the halls of the Legislature? I do not think any citizen can doubt. Mr. Howard has made his money in this county, and in it he is spending it, and after a while when the timber is gone, and perhaps some of the other industries, Mr. Howard will be here to help us on with his charities and brain. Can we hope for as much from the other candidate? I will leave the public to judge. We know what Mr. Howard has done, and we have no reason to think he will ever change. We also know what Hr. Blumle has done, and have no idea he will change. We ask the general public which of the two candidates is most worthy of their support?

We believe there are enough good, honorable thinking voters in this county to give Mr. Howard a very large majority, and vindicate the stand taken after the last election, that we will no longer allow beer or whiskey to influence our vote or allow it to rob us of the value of it.

FAIR PLAY.

Mr. and Mrs, Geo. Huffman entertained a large party of friends last Monday evening, in honor of Mr. Huffman's thirty-third anniversary. Nellis, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrison and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Will Schnyder, Mr. and Mrs John Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fisher, Master Clyde Fisher, Peter Schnyder, Mrs. O'Leary, Mrs. Robt. BLISS—FRY.—At the Free Methodist Parsonage, Emporium, Pa., October 10, 1904, by Rev. R. A. Robertson, Gillis Bliss, of Emporium, and Anna Fry, of Montoursville, Pa.

Teachers' Institute Next Week.

The following list of testimonials regarding Institute attractions is submitted to our citizens for their inspection, believing that a careful perusal of them will convince all, of the superior class of attractions secured by County Superintendent, Miss Collins, for intended patrons:

Monday night, October 17. "Last year Mr. Wallace Bruce Amsbary endeared himself to all who heard him; he is a reader of exceptional merit; all who hear him are well pleased and many are delighted. His manner is so natural that whatever his subject it seems to be original and spontaneous —impromptu; in his mouth old pieces take on such new meaning that you hear them for the first time; at least a new interpretation for them. This is real histrionic genius; it is the personal equation that gives perennial freshness to the best literature; it is the personal presence and manner that says so much more than the mere words of a writer can express. We hope that there will be a good Chautauqua here next year and that Bruce Amsbary may be here with it, improved by time as much as he has been the past year. All will give him a hearty welcome, and laugh and cry as he reads as they have done before. Then his friends want the pleasure of meeting him personally, for he is as genial as talented.—Danville (Ill.) News.

Tuesday night, October 18. Germaine is one of the most skilful magicians who has appeared in this city for years. He kept his audience in a state of enthusiasm by the pleasing features of his work. He carried throughout his talk a vein of humor which was pleasing in itself, and some of his surprises were as funny as they were inexplicable. Possessing an unusual power to please as well as to deceive the eye, he is delightful, and the audience was more than satisfied with the entertainment. —The Saginaw (Mich.) Evening News.

Wednesday night, Oct. 19. Senor Lala's lecture on the "Philippines and Their People" in the Y. M C. A. Lecture Course last night proved most interesting. He is a speaker of good voice, and talks in an interesting manner, occasionally illustrating his remarks with vivid pictures and folk songs. The pictures shown were well selected and gave the unacquainted an insight into the walled city of Manila, as well as the villages outide of the city. Mr. Lala speaks English fluently, and barring the color of his skin, would not be taken for a native of the Philippines. He has written many books and is, as well, somewhat of a composer. Last evening he rendered a native waltz song that completely charmed the audience.—The Morning Call, Paterson, N. J.

Thursday night, Oct. 20. The Cleveland Ladies' Orchestra appeared to one of the largest and most appreciative audiences ever assembled in the town in the history of the lecture association. The orchestra is first-class in every particular—every one an artist, every number a gem. They play with a smoothness and quality of tone and finish that can hardly be excelled. Miss Parsons, the trombone soloist, deserves especial mention as an artist, as does each soloist. The results accomplished by their leader, Alfred Metzdorf, show him to be an artist of the highest class, and his violin solos are the work of a master.—Evening Republic, Columbus, Ind.

The price of a Course ticket, $1.25, places this magnificent list of entertainments within the reach of all and should be taken advantage of by hundreds of our citizens. The teachers of our public schools are now making the canvass and it is hoped their efforts will be attended with the success they deserve. The chart will open at Lloyd's, Monday, Oct. 17, at 9:00 a. m.

Train No. 4 will stop at Cameron, Sterling Run and Sinnamahoning, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of institute week for the accommodation of patrons from the lower end of the county.

Edward Goodman Killed.

About 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning, the mangled remains of Edward Goodman were found lying along side the P. & E. R. R., near the wagon road crossing, a short distance below Cameron. From the nature of the injuries his death must have been instant. It is the supposition that Goodman who had remained at Cameron until a late hour, was struck by one of the west bound Flyers. He was found on Sunday morning by Dan'l McFadden, who was going home.

His remains were taken to his sister's (where he made his home) Mrs. E. M. McFadden and prepared for burial. Undertaker Egan being called from Emporium for that purpose. The funeral was held at St. Mark's Church, Tuesday morning, the following serving as pall-bearers: M. C. Tulis, Jos. Lechner, R Seger, Michael Brennan, John Lawson, F. X. Blumle. Deceased leaves one son and one daughter—Mrs. M. Morriarty—who was present at the funeral, accompanied by her husband.

Edward Goodman came to Cameron in 1873 and for a time conducted a hotel. He was aged 74 He was his own worst enemy.

A Respectable Canvass.

Mr. Josiah Howard, candidate for Representative, and Dr. E. O. Bardwell, candidate for County Treasurer, are both making an honorable, legal and manly canvass. While they are desirous of meeting every voter they may miss seeing many. The people fully understand the questions at issue and knowing the men to be fully competent will give them a rousing majority.

The Shriners Meet.

About one thousand Shriners convened in extra session at Bradford yesterday afternoon and evening—103 candidates having drank camel's milk and walked through the hot sands. The following Emporiumites were in attendance: Messrs. Fred Julian, E W. Gaskill, Jos. J Lingle, J. P. Felt, A. C. Blum, Dr. S. S. Smith, I. K. Hockley, C. A. Palmer, Jas. L. Norie, L. W. Gleason and John D. Logan. They report a grand time.

Where Was It?

Boss Hockley fears politics was injected into the Fair, last week. In every well regulated Fair "politics is the expected time" for candidates to do a little hand shaking, but in this case no one attempted any political game, and we know of no attempt to mix in politics, only that emanating from Boss Hockley's wonderful imaginary brain. He can see politics in everything, or thinks he does, even when such is not in evidence. The friends of the Fair would like you to tell who the "fiend" may be that so disturbed your rest. Name him.

At Emporium Opera House.

Commencing to-night, (Thursday), one of the best known and most meritorious popular price stock companies on the road will open a three nights engagement. Wild & Rich's players, the company which will appear at this time, have sustained a very high reputation for many years as purveyors of high class and legitimate plays at low prices.

Messrs. Wild & Rich the managers of this company make no pretences to presenting a dollar show for 30 cents—for that kind of advertising is fakism which the public very readily find out, but they do pretend to give productions which, for their all round excellency, are not surpassed by any organization playing at "living" prices.

Five specialties are presented between the acts and a change of playand specialties nightly.

Saturday Matinee; Tickets, 10c; children 5c.

The County Fair.

The second annual Fair and Pic-Nic of the Cameron County Agricultural Society was held at Keystone Park, Emporium, last Thursday and Friday. It was a grand success and too much praise cannot be given to Dr. R. P. Heilman for his able and gentlemanly management. The attendance on Friday must have been about 2,000 persons, perhaps the largest assembly ever held in the county. Not one drunken person was noticed on the grounds. The Fair is not held for the purpose of making money and all fakers and games of chance are excluded. Mr. Josiah Howard, the sole owner, has supplied all the conveniences, erected buildings and made it possible for the Association to make the Fair a permanent affair, not one dollar being charged. The public are now convinced that this is the best for the upbuilding of true sport and wholesome amusement, as well as the ambition, energy and good will of the entire community. The exhibits were half again larger than last year, especially the fruit, vegetable and produce department. In this department, Messrs. Hobson & Cousins had the largest display.

On Friday afternoon a groupe picture was taken by Photographer, W. G. Bair of ye Old Folks, in attendance who have resided fifty years in Cameron county:

Francis A. Lewis, 52; Almeron Chapman, 61; Mark Wright, 67; Franklin A. Lewis, 71; George Chapman, 89; Lyman Lewis, 62; N. P. Minard, 81; C. C. Craven, 72; J. W. Lewis, 58; J. D. Swope, 68; E. D. How Will YOU Vote?

EDITOR PRESS:—

Young man, the day is fast approaching when you will be called upon to answer this vital question, for answer it you must, if this government of the people is to continue to exist. Let me suggest that you weigh the matter well before you go to the polls, and, whatever you may do, don't vote for any man simply because he is a "jolly good fellow."

There are two ways of being "a good fellow." One is to spend money freely at the bar, and in so doing demoralize and degrade the voters. The other, and better way, is to strive in every possible way to elevate and inspire the young men to become men of moral character.

The one "good fellow" encourages the use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage, and in so doing lays the foundation for drunkenness, despair, wrecked homes and ruined lives, and possibly lost souls.

The other "good fellow" encourages temperance, free libraries, public improvements and pure, undefiled manhood and womanhood.

These, my boy, are some of the issues your conscience must help you to decide, between now and November. Remember your poor old mother's prayers, that her boy might become a pure man, and then vote as your conscience dictates.

Not long since I overheard a young man say that he would not vote for a certain candidate because he refused to give him money with which to buy whiskey. Can it be possible that some mother's boy has fallen so low?

There is an old saying that "every tub must stand on its own bottom." The same may be said of political campaigns. We have but one campaign at a time and the present campaign has nothing to do with the ones in the past. Vote for men who will be a credit to yourself and your county, is the advice of FATHER.

Shippen, Pa., Oct. 10, 1904.

It is Strange, Passing Strange.

Editor Press:—

The Independent says, it is strange and somewhat inconsistent, that women should attack the liquor traffic only about election time. Has it ever occured to the Independent that this aversion to the traffic at this particular time, is probably aggravated by the fact that beer wagons are never so frequently seen on our streets, both night and day, as they are at this present time and have been on the eve of on election during the past four years, nor are so many poor drunken men in evidence on our thoroughfares—both on Sundays and weekdays—nor as many violent deaths, directly traceable to this cause, as during a period covering the two months before an election.

A Birthday Surprise.

A most enjoyable time was passed Wednesday evening, Oct. 5th, at the home of Mr. N. H. McCloskey, who lives in the part of Sinnamahoning called by that good old Bible name "Jericho." It was Mr. McCloskey's forty-sixth birthday, and the occasion was a successfully complete surprise. His first intimation of it was when he heard the sudden, pleasant sound of music, in the parlor, by the Sinnamahoning band of which he is an enthusiastic member. The band was royally treated to a splendid supper of many good things, including ice cream. Mr. McCloskey is a generous and wholesouled brother and shall have a long and grateful remembrance of the pleasant occasion accorded him.

A GUEST.

Would not Vote Against His Business.

"TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN."

Under this heading I find an article in the Independent of October 13th, which is said to have been written by a Hotel man, and which the above named paper says, "points a way to the correction of the abuse of the traffic," and I certainly think that every good citizen agrees with this Hotel man and the paper publishing it, and in fact such a law was passed by the Legisluture of 1903, and approved by the Governor, and is No. 189, recorded on page 257, Laws of Pennsylvania of 1903.

How about the attitude of the Independent's candidate, Hon. F. X. Blumle, toward this Bill, which points the way to a correction? The Legislative Record, Vol. 11 of 1903, shows that this Bill came up for third reading and that the gentleman in question placed himself on record as "absent and not voting," or in other words he "dodged" the Bill, which permits a blood relative or overseer of the poor to serve such a notice on a saloon keeper. Mr. Blumle was present at the same session and is recorded on other questions.

Permanent position for a good Laundry woman. Apply at once at New Warner House.

Last Saturday night the mail train east struck a beef critter, west of Park bridge, carrying it almost to Howard & Co's office. The critter belonged to Mr. Josiah Howard.

An editor, in reply to a young writer who wished to know which magazine would give him the highest position quickest, advised "a powder magazine especially if you contribute a fiery article."

A lawyer was summoned as a witness in a certain case. The judge finding that the witness was lying badly, interrupted him, saying, "I beg you to forget your profession for a moment and tell us the truth."—Wm. F. Perdue, Summitville, Ind.

Two Irishmen were eating dinner in a hotel in America for the first time. There was a bottle of pickles on the table. One of them took one of the green pickles and ate it; he said. "Begorra, Pat, thry one, they are fine." Pat thought if the green one was good the red one would be better, so he took out a red pepper and tasted it, and laid it on his plate. Mike said, "Is it good, Pat?" "Yes, but I will lay the little red hot cuss down till he cools.—Sterling Eulon, Michell, Neb.

Don't ask the editor to write up every evil work and rebuke every evil in the town and community, says the North East Breeze, but when convicted that such duties need attending to, write an article for the paper yourself and sign your name to it for publication. The man who is too big a coward to thus express an opinion is the very one who will stand on the corner and talk loudly about the cowardice of the editor.

In the Independent of this week, the political writer conveys the idea that Democrats and Republicans alike took an undue advantage of Hon. F. X Blumle, by asking him, as early as last March, whether he would be a candidate, as public opinion had not crystallized yet. The same writer also very kindly states, that he does not care to name a time for the holding of the Republican County Convention, for which forbearance the Republican voters of this State and county should feel deeply grateful. For his information we state that the holding of these conventions is not governed by Mr. Blumle's candidacy, but by the date of the holding of the State Convention. The entire article certainly is a slur upon the manhood of the Independent's candidate. There can be no question as to the truth of the fact that Mr. Blumle stated to a number of influential Democrats, and to Republicans alike, that he was not a candidate, that "he had a mind of his own, and could not be forced to be a candidate, and that his word was as good as his bond." These facts are subject to proof at any time. Yet the crystallizing of public opinion seemed to have this very effect, and Mr. Blumle proved too weak to resist the pressure brought to bear upon him.

Nothing Definite.

It has been rumored in town for several days that our genial citizen, Mr. Thos. H. Norris, Supt. of the tannery at this place, will leave Emporium in the very near future, having been appointed to a position that would necessitate his moving to Ridgway. We are glad to inform our readeas that, in part, the report is untrue. Mr. Norris has been tendered a position of responsibility, one that would take him from home a greater portion of the week. Mr. Norris has the proposition under consideration. His friends in this county hope he may remain in Emporium, having become closely identified with our town and county.

Eye Specialist.

Prof. W. H. Budine, the well known Eye Specialist, of Binghamton, N. Y., will be at R. H. Hirsch's jewelry store, Emporium, Pa., October 14th and 15th. DEATH'S DOINGS.

MASON.

Another one of our respected citizens passed away October 4th, 1904. Uncle Phin, as everybody was wont to call him, died very suddenly on Huston Hill, while repairing the township road, (as he was Supervisor). He left home on Monday morning in his usual health and said to his family, I will not be home until to-morrow night. Little did they think he would never return to them alive. He stoped over night at Mrs. Miller's and in the morning she ask him how he rested he answered "very well and felt good."

While at work in the forenoon he went to a spring and took a drink on his return to work. He took sick and grew worse and in about twenty minutes he was dead. No one knows the cause of his death, as no doctor examined him, but it is supposed to be heart failure.

Mr. Mason was over 68 years old, born April 1st, 1836, on the farm where he has lived from his infancy. His life was spent in lumbering and farming. In 1859 he was united in marriage to Miss Ellen Brooks; from this union one son was born, Anson, who owns and lives on the John Mason farm. Mr. Mason has been elected to most all the township offices and has filled them all satisfactory to all concerned.

It has been the privilege and pleasure of the writer to have known Mr. Mason, by personal acquaintance, for many years, and can truthfully say he was a man of high respectability, honored and loved by all who new him; a man of kind, benevolent and generous heart, always cheerful. And one who will be missed, not only in his own home and among his own immediate relatives and friends, but by the whole community. Mr. Mason was a member of the M. E. church and by what we knew of him, was a consistent christian. This is a comforting and consoling thought to the bereaved wife in her loneliness, and to the sorrowing son and sisters (of whom three are living, Mrs. J. F. English, Grantonia; Mrs. Wm. Krebs, Sterling Run; Mrs. Ross Meeker, Port Alleghany, Pa.,) and all near relatives. We hope and believe he has but passed over into glory, where he awaits to extend a glad hand to all.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. G. W. Faus, of M. E. Church, assisted by Joseph Pugh, evangelist, James town, N. Y. The funeral was largely attended by friends from all parts of the county and many from adjoining counties. The remains were enclosed in a very beautiful casket and rested in the parlor. After the services were concluded the last look was taken of him who but three days before was alive. The Rev. gentleman used these words for the foundation of his remarks, "There is but a step between me and death," 1st Saul, 20 chapter, 3rd verse. After the services were ended the remains were taken to the old Pine Street Cemetery and laid beside his father, mother, brother and a sister, to await the first resurrection.

"When Spring with dewy fingers,
Returns to deck his hallowed mold;
She there shall dress a sweeter sod,
Than fancy's feet have ever trod."

BARR.

MR. WILL BARR died at his home at Hicks Run, Sunday, Oct. 9th, 1904 at 8 o'clock, p. m. He had been sick about two weeks but was not considered in a critical condition until two or three days before his death. He had been a devoted husband and a kind and indulgent father.

W. E. Barr was born at Hicks Run, Jan. 25, 1867, being in his 38th year and lived all his life in this vacinity. He was married to Miss Nellie Barr, July 3rd, 1895. There are five surviving children, the oldest of which is in her 8th year. Besides his wife and children, he leaves to mourn for him a mother, Miss Alzina Barr, of Mason Hill, two brothers, Charles, of Huston Hill and Walter, of Mason Hill and two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Conners, of Dents Run and Miss Ethel, of Mason Hill.

The funeral services, which were very largely attended, were conducted by Rev. Faus at the house and by Rev. Pugh at the Mason Hill school house. Mr. C. W. Rishell, Mr. LaBar's assistant, had charge of the remains and interment took place in Mason Hill cemetery.

The Horse Is Learning.

The horse is getting wise. He always was intelligent, but he has learned many things in the last few years. A really successful horse to-day must know a great many things not essential to those olden horses who did not live in electric-lighted stables or ride up and down stairs on an elevator and did not have their hair cut by electricity. A horse to have a career to-day must not only have horse sense, but he must be acquainted with the ways of the world, says the Washington Star. He must be a "horse-of-the-world" or a "horse-about-town," if it be permissible to paraphrase those hard-worn phrases "man-of-the-world" and "man-about-town." Nearly every horse is becoming an educated horse. During the last few years the horse has been taking a course in the study of automobiles, and already he has a very good understanding of the subject. Time was when a horse would forget his spavins, sore shoulders or quarter-crack and would jump a six-bar gate at sight of one of these monsters. Now he can walk up to an auto, look it in the lamps and sniff its evil breath without breaking a trace or kicking in the dashboard. He can now meet one of these benzine buggies on a lonely road and a dark night without throwing either a fit or his rider. The time may be coming when the horse and the auto will sleep in the same stable and drink from the same bucket. There was the trolley car. A few years ago it was the abomination of every horse. Now the horse would feel positively lonesome if he had all the street to himself and did not have his wagon smashed now and then as a diversion. The horse is learning.

Beauty Not a Fatal Gift.

A professor in a Philadelphia business college has informed a local reporter that beauty is an obstacle to the employment of women in business houses, says the New York Mail. In Philadelphia, it seems, business men do not, when they advertise for a stenographer, add the words: "No pretty girl need apply," but they go on that principle. It appears that they fear frivolity as an accompaniment of beauty. It is possible that this is a good and safe rule in Philadelphia, but it is certainly not a rule that is honored here, and we doubt if it is in any city where feminine beauty is not so rare as to excite suspicion when it occurs. Nor is there the slightest ground for the assumption that a pretty woman is likely to be any more frivolous than a plain one. The gift of beauty may, indeed, be fatal if no strength go with it, but the newer, the sounder chivalry of our modern time assumes that goodness goes with beauty as normally among women as it does throughout the whole gamut of nature.

Robbers attempting to hold up a Marshalltown (Ia.) editor at midnight showed remarkably poor judgment all round. In the first place, they overlooked the fact that all editors are fighting men from the ground up. Before the fight was over they discovered that a well-developed editor's skull is too thick to be penetrated by a pistol bullet fired even at close range. These robbers were taking long chances to get at the little change an Iowa editor is supposed to have on him when going home at a midnight hour ending his week of unremitting toil, mad enough to fight at the drop of the hat.

Most of our maps of Asia are drawn to a small scale, and on such maps, remarks the World's Work, the Japanese archipelago fills little space. But she is larger than England and more populous. She has 6,000,000 more people than France. She sent six armies over sea within six months, every one of which was as big as either army that met at Waterloo. She has sent to Manchuria twice as many soldiers in six months as England sent to South Africa in two years.

And now comes an inventor with a telephone attachment that enables you to see the person with whom you are talking—an invention, however, that is not likely to add materially to the profits of the companies, except where Central is really especially pretty. What is really needed, say some of the telephone users in the west, is an invention that will enable a man to use two different systems and pay for only one of them.

HENRY C. PAYNE IS DEAD.

POSTMASTER GENERAL'S ILLNESS COVERED SEVEN DAYS.

Was Unconscious for Six Hours Before Death Came—President Roosevelt Was the Last Official Caller.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Henry C. Payne, postmaster general of the United States, a member of the national republican committee, a stalwart of his party, with the history of which both in his home state and nationally he has been identified for many years, died at his apartments at the Arlington hotel at 6:10 o'clock last night, aged 60 years.

Mr. Payne had been in poor health for at least two years, but his last illness covered only seven days, an attack of heart trouble last week precipitating the end at a time when after a rest he seemed to have recovered a small measure of his vitality impaired by years of arduous labor. Death came after nearly six hours of unconsciousness.

Hon. Henry C. Payne.

The last official caller to inquire as to Mr. Payne's condition was President Roosevelt, and he had been gone only about ten minutes when the stricken member of his cabinet expired. Secretary Hay had called at the Payne apartments a few minutes before the president made his visit. Neither entered the sick room. As Mr. Roosevelt was leaving he spoke freely of Mr. Payne to the newspaper men gathered in front of the hotel as "the sweetest, most lovable and most truthful man I ever knew."

Around Mr. Payne's bedside at the time of his death was his wife, Rev. Dr. Dunlap, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church; Maj. and Mrs. W. S. Cameron, of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Cameron, of Milwaukee; Charles L. Jones and Miss Louise E. Jones, relatives; Private Secretary Whitney, Miss Marie Barbieri, an old companion of Mrs. Payne; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mason, of Washington, old-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Payne, and the faithful colored messenger at the department of the postmaster general.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Episcopal church in this city next Friday morning and at 3:15 that afternoon the body will be taken to the Pennsylvania railroad station and placed aboard the private car of President Earling, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. The remains should arrive at Milwaukee Saturday evening and services will be held next Sunday at All Saints' Episcopal church there.

AFTER THREE YEARS.

Alaskan Telegraph System Is Completed—It Contains the First Submarine Cable of American Manufacture.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Gen. Greely has received a dispatch from Maj. Edgar Russell, of the signal corps, announcing that the Burnside, which has been engaged in laying a cable from Valdez, Alaska, buoyed the eastern cable end at the mouth of Sitka harbor on Monday afternoon. It will require several days to make the shore end connections in the narrow passage of Sitka harbor and throw open the cable to commercial business.

This completes the Alaskan telegraph system which has been under construction for the past three years, during which time about 4,000 miles of land lines and submarine cables have been constructed and laid, and it brings the Nome and Bering Strait regions in direct communication with the United States over an all-American route.

STOLEN SPARKLERS.

They are Found at Huntington, W. Va., and the Alleged Thief Is Arrested.

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 5.—After working secretly for six months Chief of Police Davis, of this city, has unearthed diamonds valued at $6,500, stolen from Mrs. Theodore A. Piatt at New Orleans during Mardi Gras last March. The diamonds were taken from the Piatt home while the family were attending the Mardi Gras festivities. Simultaneously Walter Piatt, a nephew of the owner of the diamonds, disappeared. Early in April the young man was heard of in St. Louis, then Cincinnati, later in Huntington.

Chief Davis last night secured part of the stolen jewels and arrested Walter Piatt, to await the arrival of his aunt from New Orleans.

Seven Men Missing.

Oklahoma City, O. T., Oct. 5.—Seven men are missing of a party of eight who went down with the wagon bridge between Lexington and Purcell after battling with the swift rush of waters for many hours in a vain attempt to prevent the bridge from going out.

Sculptor Bartholdi Dies.

Paris, Oct. 5.—Frederick Auguste Bartholdi, the sculptor of the statue of Liberty in New York bay, died yesterday at his residence in Paris. The cause of his death was tuberculosis and he had been bedridden since May.

Miss Columbia—Go Away; How Many Times Must I Tell You That I Have Nothing for You?

TRAINED BY DAVID HILL.

Serious Accusations Brought Against Parker by Populist Candidate for President.

Thomas E. Watson, populist candidate for president, is a literary man, having written several books which have had wide circulation. His proficiency in the use of words to express ideas is manifest on the stump as well as in his published works. One phrase which Mr. Watson employs, and which is particularly expressive, calls Judge Parker "Hill's favorite pupil." The interesting part of this appellation is its truth. As Watson says: "Trained for 20 years in the school of Dave Hill, it would be a marvel indeed if the favorite pupil did not somewhat resemble the master who taught him."

But the populist leader goes farther. He charges that Parker is not only the favorite pupil of David B. Hill, but that he is also the stalking horse of the corporations. With plain speech Watson says of corporate influences in the Parker campaign:

"What has been promised the Standard Oil company that its New York agent, Pat McCarren, should have given the greater part of his time for two years to the Parker campaign? What has been promised to Belmont that he should have been so active in personal work and so lavish in financing the Parker campaign during the last two years? What do these greedy corporation hordes expect from Parker? Are they doing this simply for health and pleasure, or is it a matter of business with them? It is high time that the people of this country woke up to the fact that corporate interests represented by Belmont, Pat McCarren, Lamont, Gorman, Carlisle and Olney are not in the habit of spending their time and their money on any candidate unless they have good reason to believe that they will get value received."

Again, this plain spoken populist declares that Parker is "a false pretense, a dodger, a trimmer, who is willing to get if he can the votes of those who would never support him if he were to say in plain English just what his convictions are."

That is quite a series of accusations to bring against a candidate for the presidency: First, that he is the favorite pupil of David B. Hill; second, that he is the instrument of corporate influences, and third, that he is a trimmer who is willing to suppress his views in order to get votes. This is not a description formulated by republicans, but by another party and by the candidate of that party for the highest office in the nation.

The Troy Times concludes that such a candidate, nominated by the democrats and willing, after the St. Louis convention had agreed to hold the money question in abeyance, to insult free silver men with whom he had voted for eight years by sending a telegram to catch the gold democratic vote, it is not surprising that the old Bryan democrats are in revolt against Parker. It is a conservative estimate that the populists will get 25,000 votes in New York state this year, and these will be cast by democrats who are opposed to the influences that are behind Judge Parker and to the weakness and shiftiness which his candidacy has developed.

☞Roosevelt's letter of acceptance reads like a loaded Gatling gun in action, and his political enemies are now busy counting the holes it has made in their labor pretensions. It is pretty hard to fight substance with shadow.—Troy Labor Advocate.

☞New York democrats are so determined on harmony that they are willing to fight for it.—Toledo Blade.

☞The democratic campaign is not making a serious impression anywhere, so far as we can find out. Tom Taggart may be a great man in Indiana, but he has not captured New York. August Belmont may be a great man in Wall street, but his influence is not large elsewhere. According to the best information we can obtain there never was a national campaign so botched as this one is by the conceited little great men who are responsible for its management.—Boston Herald.

CARRIES NO CONVICTION.

Judge Parker's Latest Utterance Shows That He Has No Hope of Being Elected.

Hon. Alton B. Parker's letter accepting the democratic nomination for the presidency is even more remarkable than his speech to the notification committee at Esopus.

As regards the democratic past, he enters a plea of guilty, with some extenuating circumstances. Concerning the democratic future, especially during the four years from next March 4, he again lays emphasis upon the fact that the United States senate is certain to remain republican, and therefore the democrats would be unable to do much national harm in case of a democratic victory next November.

In a nutshell, Judge Parker declares that the gold standard must remain inviolate; that the tariff must not be tinkered with if by such tinkering business conditions are to be disturbed; that in his belief the existing laws for the regulation of trusts are adequate; that the Panama canal must be built and quickly, along the route selected; that civil service reform in the governmental service is here to stay.

In what wise does the position of Judge Parker differ from that of the republican party upon these questions?

As regards the Philippines, he would give them a promise of independence as soon as the natives "are reasonably prepared for it." How gloriously indefinite this sounds, when coming from a man to whom the democratic hosts have looked for constructive leadership! And how gloriously impracticable such a promise seems at the present time!

Surely, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean, Hon. Alton B. Parker's letter is no bugle call. It is no summons to aggressive action. It does not betray hope. It does not inspire confidence. Its prevailing tone is one of resignation. In a word, it seems to have been written largely to keep the record clear.

A candidate who puts forth such a document certainly can have no strong expectation of victory.

Figures That Do Not Lie.

There were, according to the census, 29,074,117 persons engaged in gainful occupations in 1900. There must be fully 32,500,000 now. The income of these people will certainly average over $2 a day, or $20,000,000,000 annually altogether. The sum is probably nearer twice that amount. But suppose we were to lower our tariff or abolish it as the free traders wish, our incomes would certainly be cut into and reduced by at least $10,000,000,000 a year. In ten years that would be a sum equal to our total wealth. Think of what the loss of $10,000,000,000 a year in incomes means. No wonder the great majority of the people want to let well enough alone, and put off revision either up or down till some years hence.

Growth of Our Export Trade.

For the first time in the history of the country the exports of manufactures have exceeded those of agricultural products. The exports of iron, steel and copper have had a most remarkable growth during a period of 34 years. In 1870 the exports of iron and steel were only $13,000,000, while this year they have reached $111,948,586. Copper has risen from $500,000 to $57,000,000 since that time; mineral oils have increased from $30,000,000 to $72,000,000; leather from less than $1,000,000 to $33,000,000; cotton manufactures from less than $4,000,000 to $22,000,000; agricultural implements, from $1,000,000 to over $22,000,000.

☞Taggart declares Illinois is debatable ground. Perhaps the chairman is still talking in his sleep.—Chicago Post.

☞Up to the present time, however, so far as we can judge, Gen. Chaos is still in command of the democratic forces.—Harper's Weekly.

☞Mr. Bryan's oratoric effectiveness is likely to be diminished by the necessity of explaining why he is supporting the Parker-Davis ticket.—Washington Star.

☞"Every one on the democratic band wagon," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "seems to be playing a different tune."—Yonkers Statesman.

MANY PRELATES ARE PRESENT

TRIENNIAL CONVENTION OF THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Many Important Questions Will be Decided — Archbishop of Canterbury Delivers a Message to the American Church.

Boston, Oct. 6.—Prelates from five continents and from distant islands of the sea, representatives of the Anglican communion throughout the world, participated in the opening ceremonies of the triennial general convention of the Episcopal church in the United States in this city Wednesday. For the first time in ecclesiastical history the Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, was present at a formal assembly of the American Episcopal body. He was received with all the honors due his rank and as the guest of the American church was accorded a hearty welcome by four score bishops of domestic dioceses.

Archbishop of Canterbury.

The convention is regarded as the most important ever held by the Episcopal denomination. The proposed legislation embraces questions of moral reform, alterations in the ecclesiastical administration and even a change in the name of the church itself.

Boston, Oct. 7.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, speaking before a joint session of the house of bishops and house of deputies of the Episcopal church at Emanuel church yesterday, delivered a message to the American body in which he urged that the church take steps to guard the religious life of the home.

After reporting against a change in the legal name of the church at this time, the committee appointed by the last convention to consider the matter was discharged.

A GREAT RACE.

Sweet Marie Won the Transylvania Stake, in Which Several Records Were Smashed.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 7.—The Transylvania for 2:12 class trotters, value $5,000, yesterday resulted in possibly the greatest contest in the history of the trotting turf and was won by Sweet Marie in the three final heats, the first two heats going to Tiverton. Four world's records were made in the Transylvania, besides lowering the event record and making the fastest mile of the year on any track. When Tiverton won the first heat in 2:05¾ he lowered the event record and made the fastest trotting record of any horse this year. When he won the second heat in 2:04½ he again lowered these records and made the world's record for the fastest second heat in a race.

Sweet Marie won the third heat in 2:05. This established a world's record for the three fastest heats ever trotted in a race, and her mark is a world's record for the fastest third heat ever trotted in a race. Sweet Marie won the fourth heat in 2:08½ and the fifth heat in 2:09, thus establishing a world's record for the five fastest heats ever trotted in a race.

WAS SOLD AT AUCTION.

The International Mercantile Agency Is Bought by a Philadelphian for $26,000.

New York, Oct. 7.—The $3,000,000 International Mercantile Agency was sold at public auction yesterday for $26,000. The sale was conducted by George R. Beach, appointed receiver of the company by Judge Lannon, of the United States circuit court at Trenton, N. J., about six weeks ago.

Receiver Beach started the auction by putting up the reports of the financial standing of tens of thousands of firms throughout the United States and Canada. These were supposed to have cost $1,200,000 to collect. The highest bid was $10.

Mr. Beach refused to accept this bid and revised his plan for conducting the sale, dividing the property into two lots. In the first lot everything belonging to the company except the outstanding accounts was included. The second lot consisted of the accounts due.

The first lot was sold to Charles H. Barritt, of Philadelphia, for $23,000, and the second lot to the same purchaser for $3,000.

A New Feature in Railroading.

Omaha, Oct. 7.—The Union Pacific railroad yesterday began serving news bulletins on its passenger trains between Omaha and San Francisco. The bulletins are served to eight trains daily.

Steamer Struck a Reef.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 7.—News was brought here Thursday that during a fog Wednesday night the steamer Boscowiz struck a reef on Harble Down island. Four children were drowned. The crew and 185 other passengers were saved. The Boscowiz was running from Vancouver to northern British Columbian ports and had on board nearly 200 Indian passengers bound for various settlements up the coast. The passengers were taken ashore and the drowning of the four children occurred in connection with the launching of a small boat.

THOUGHT SHE WOULD DIE.

Mrs. S. W. Marine, of Colorado Springs, Began to Fear the Worst. Doan's Kidney Pills Saved Her.

Mrs. Sarah Marine, of 428 St. Urain St., Colorado Springs, Colo., writes: "I suffered for three years with severe backache. The doctors told me my kidneys were affected and prescribed medicines for me, but I found that it was only waste of time and money to take them and began to fear that I would never get well. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. Within a week after I began using them I was so much better that I decided to keep up the treatment, and when I had used a little over two boxes I was entirely well. I have now enjoyed the best of health for more than four months, and words can but poorly express my gratitude."

NEW HOTEL IS A PALACE.

Hostelry in New York City Built and Furnished Without Regard to Cost.

The Hotel St. Regis, another new world palace planned to shelter vagrant multimillionaires, has opened its doors in New York city. John Jacob Astor is the owner of the new hotel and R. M. Haan is proprietor. The 18 stories are furnished with a splendor unprecedented. The corridors are of marble and the walls are hung with silks that vary in price from $7 to $15 a yard, and the metal fittings in the bathrooms are of solid silver.

The table linen came from Belfast, the heavy embroidered bed linen from Dresden, the china from the Royal Worcester and Minton factories, and the carpets were woven in France from special designs to suit every apartment.

There is a library of 2,150 volumes for the patrons. There are devices for regulating the heat by which any temperature desired may be attained. Cool air also may be introduced. Clocks are on every mantel, run from a magnetic clock in the office, and pantries are on every floor in which breakfasts are prepared.

The state suite excels in magnificence any of the other apartments. It consists of a dining room in Circassian walnut, wainscoted to the ceiling, decorated with silver, bronze ornaments, formerly the property of the king of Sicily. Prices range from seven dollars a day for room and bath to $125 a day for the state suite.

The hotel, exclusive of furniture, cost $4,000,000. The furniture cost another $1,500,000.

CAN DRINK TROUBLE.

That's One Way to Get It.

Although they won't admit it many people who suffer from sick headaches and other ails get them straight from the coffee they drink and it is easily proved if they're not afraid to leave it to a test as in the case of a lady in Connellsville.

"I had been a sufferer from sick headaches for twenty-five years and anyone who has ever had a bad sick headache knows what I suffered. Sometimes three days in the week I would have to remain in bed, at other times I couldn't lie down the pain would be so great. My life was a torture and if I went away from home for a day I always came back more dead than alive.

"One day I was telling a woman my troubles and she told me she knew that it was probably coffee caused it. She said she had been cured by stopping coffee and using Postum Food Coffee and urged me to try this food drink.

"That's how I came to send out and get some Postum and from that time I've never been without it for it suits my taste and has entirely cured all of my old troubles. All I did was to leave off the coffee and tea and drink well made Postum in its place. This change has done me more good than everything else put together.

"Our house was like a drug store for my husband bought everything he heard of to help me without doing any good but when I began on the Postum my headaches ceased and the other troubles quickly disappeared. I have a friend who had an experience just like mine and Postum cured her just as it did me.

"Postum not only cured the headaches but my general health has been improved and I am much stronger than before. I now enjoy delicious Postum more than I ever did coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason" and it's worth finding out.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK GROWS STEADILY BETTER.

Many Mills and Factories Are Resuming Operations—Crops Are Beyond Danger—Collections Better.

New York, Oct. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

With the crops almost beyond danger, prices of securities at the highest point since May, 1903, and idle machinery resuming at many factories and mills that have been closed for months, the business outlook grows steadily brighter. By far the best feature of the situation is the confidence manifested by an increased disposition to provide for future requirements. This is by no means general, but it is noticed at pig iron furnaces, woolen mills and among dealers at widely separated points, particularly those located in the agricultural section.

Mercantile collections are also more prompt, and railway earnings for the month of September were 3.8 per cent. larger than in the same month last year, while foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows increases of $1,051,208 in imports and $410,748 in exports as compared with a year ago. Dispatches from the leading cities are almost unanimous in telling of improved conditions.

For the first time in many months it is possible to report that sellers of pig iron appear to have a slight advantage. They have been able to dictate.

It is more difficult to find evidence of increased movement of steel, although a fair tonnage was taken by the railways. Wire mills will not accept contracts for distant delivery on account of a growing belief that better terms will be secured in the near future. Pipe is quiet and structural shapes are not eagerly sought, but merchant steel is active and the tonnage of plates is encouraging.

Failures this week in the United States are 222, against 239 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 25, against 17 last year.

MURDERER IS CAPTURED.

Outlawed Farmer Shot Himself When He Found He Was Cornered.

East Glastonbury, Conn., Oct. 8.—In an attempt to make good his threat not to be taken alive, John Whipple, the outlaw farmer, put two bullets into his head when he found himself cornered by a posse of armed men in the barn of Theodore Evans, in South Glastonbury highway last night. He died a few hours later.

Since September 12 Whipple has defied the officers who wanted him on a charge of shooting a neighbor, Frank Starmer, for setting fires which destroyed two sets of farm buildings and for shooting State Officer Louks. Whipple kept to the woods for three weeks and during all of this time a man hunt has been in progress.

On Sunday last Officer Louks surprised the fugitive at his home, where he had gone, probably for provisions. Louks was shot.

Yesterday Whipple appeared at the Evans farm house for food. It was given him, after which he went to Evans' barn and slept. In the meantime a posse was summoned and the place was surrounded.

DUG UP AN OLD LAW.

Chicago Employers Find a New Ally in the Crusade Against Strikes.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—The Chicago Employers' association on Friday, through Attorney Dudley Taylor, brought into operation a law that has lain dormant for years, by which it is believed picketing, violence and the crippling of industries by strikes can be prevented. It is "an act to prohibit any person from obstructing the regular operation and conduct of the business of any railroad company or other corporation, firm or individual." Under this measure, Attorney Taylor contends, employers may proceed against pickets without necessity of injunctions and have the guilty persons held to the grand jury by examining magistrates.

The law which was put upon the statute books of Illinois in 1887, was applied for the first time in connection with violence growing out of trades unionism yesterday, when three members of the Janitors' union were arraigned on a charge of attacking a non-union janitor.

Three Were Killed.

New York, Oct. 8.—Driven at the rate of 25 miles an hour, a three-seated touring car containing nine persons, four men and five women, dashed over an embankment at the southern end of Jerome avenue early Friday morning, landing on the southbound track of the New York Central railroad. Just at that moment a train rounded a curve and struck the automobile. Three persons were killed, two instantly; two were seriously injured and the other four, although badly bruised and shaken, were able to go home.

Murdered by Italian Bandits.

Brewster, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Two victims of an attack by Italian brigands upon a camp of Italian laborers near here Thursday night are dead and a third is dying.

Vessel Wrecked by a Whale.

Baltimore, Oct. 8.—Capt. Jones, of the British steamship Queenmoore, which arrived here Friday from Liverpool, reported that on September 30 he sighted the Danish schooner Anna, flying signals of distress. The vessel was found to be sinking, and the crew of six was taken aboard the Queenmoore and brought to this port. Capt. Madsen, of the Anna, reports that on September 27 the schooner struck a whale which carried away four feet of the vessel's bow. The Anna was bound from Patrix, Iceland, to Campbelltown, N. B.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE.

Biennial Convention of the Organization Is in Session at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Oct. 6.—The biennial convention of the National Republican League of the United States opened here Wednesday with 35 states and territories represented by delegations. According to its president, J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, the league represents 2,000,000 members, organized into 7,000 clubs.

Gov. Durbin, of Indiana, welcomed the delegates to the state.

The response was made on behalf of the convention by Sid B. Redding, of Arkansas, the national treasurer. The biennial address of President Moore was then delivered.

Murat Halstead, of Ohio, and Dr. Robert Reyburn, of Washington, D. C., spoke briefly.

Indianapolis, Oct. 7.—At the opening of the second session of the national convention of the Republican league yesterday President Moore announced that the election of officers would be the first order of business. For president, Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia; Scott Bonham, of Cincinnati, and Dr. J. P. McFatrich, of Chicago, were named. The nominating speeches displayed some feeling, some of them being devoted to criticism of the administration of President Moore, and some to a defense of Mr. Moore.

The ballot for president resulted: Moore 703 2-3, Bonham 287 2-3, McFatrich 249 2-3. On motion of Scott Bonham the election of Mr. Moore was declared unanimous.

Sid B. Redding, of Arkansas, was elected vice president at large by acclamation.

E. W. Weeks, of Iowa, and George D. Heilman, of Indiana, were nominated for secretary, but Mr. Heilman withdrew and Mr. Weeks was elected unanimously. For treasurer W. C. Porter, of North Dakota, was elected.

LA FOLLETTE WINS.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court Decides Against the "Stalwarts."

Madison, Wis., Oct. 6.—The supreme court yesterday decided the La Follette state ticket regular. Three judges, Marshall, Dodge and Winslow, are for the La Follette faction. Chief Justice Cassiday dissents.

GOV. LA FOLLETTE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6.—There was rejoicing in the quarters of the La Follette state central committee in this city upon receipt of the decision of the supreme court. At the "Stalwart" headquarters Chairman Goldin announced that he had no statement to make at present. Samuel A. Cook, who heads the "Stalwart" ticket as candidate for governor, will withdraw.

FOR THIRTY DAYS.

Mr. Wynne Will Act as Postmaster General—Cortelyou to be Appointed After That Time.

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Roosevelt yesterday formally designated First Assistant Postmaster General Robert J. Wynne as acting postmaster general.

Under the law the designation may be for only 30 days. While Mr. Wynne will act as postmaster general, he will not have a seat in the cabinet as would a regularly appointed head of an executive department.

Under the law, as construed by the department of justice, it will be necessary for the president, within the next 30 days, to appoint a postmaster general in succession to Mr. Wynne as the acting head of the department. It is well understood that George Bruce Cortelyou, now chairman of the republican national committee, is to be appointed postmaster general, but it is understood to be the president's desire not to appoint him until after the close of the campaign.

MORE WORK AND LESS PAY.

A Big Reduction in Wages at the Joliet Steel Mills.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 6.—With the exception of employes of the rod mills, all tonnage men at the Joliet plant of the United States Steel Corporation are now at work under a new schedule of wages, which represents a radical reduction in the pay of the men. This reduction ranges from 20 to 40 per cent. According to statements given out here, it is part of a general plan, put into operation in all plants of the United States Steel Co. on October 1, the notice having just reached plants at Joliet, South Chicago and other places.

Another disquieting fact is that some of the veterans in various departments are let out under the readjustment. Men who have been with the steel plant 25 years are out.

The Jury Disagreed.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—The trial of Henry Lear, ex-president of the Doylestown, Pa., national bank, who was accused of misappropriating, misapplying and embezzling funds of the bank, ended yesterday in a disagreement of the jury. The case was given to the jury Tuesday and after nearly 24 hours' deliberation the jurors reported to Judge McPherson that they could not agree. Lear was accused by the government of obtaining from the bank over $60,000 by overdrafts and was arrested shortly after the failure of the bank.

Quotations From Republican Campaign Text-Book, 1904.

"The man or party that would seek to array labor against capital and capital against labor is the enemy of both."—Maj. McKinley at Canton, September 18, 1896.

"Cheap labor is not the sole end we seek in the United States.—We desire not only well-paid labor, but want that labor steadily employed."—Hon. C. W. Fairbanks, at Kansas City, Mo., September, 1, 1902.

"Where possible, it is always better to meditate before the strike begins than to try to arbitrate when the fight is on and both sides have grown stubborn and bitter."—President Roosevelt at Labor Day picnic, Chicago, Sept. 3, 1900.

"We want no slave labor. Two million men, with their blood, wiped away slavery forever. We want no labor, either white or black, in a virtual state of serfdom. Labor must be free, with all the prerogatives which pertain to freedom."—Hon. C. W. Fairbanks, at Kansas City, Mo., September 1, 1902.

"The obstructionist are here, not elsewhere. They may postpone but they cannot defeat the realization of the high purpose of this nation to restore order to the Islands and establish a just and generous government in which the inhabitants shall have the largest participation of which they are capable."—President McKinley to Notification Committee, July 12, 1900.

"I am a protectionist because I can see very clearly that the political independence which every patriot would sacrifice his life to preserve to his country can only be safely assured when we are industrially independent, and I am glad, if it requires that lesser sacrifice, to forego a few pennies of my savings to do my part to secure that assurance." Prof. R. H. Thurston, of Cornell University, in the American Economist.

"The certain way of bringing great harm upon ourselves, without in any way furthering the solution of the problem, but on the contrary, deferring indefinitely its proper solution, would be to act in a spirit of ignorance, of rancor, in a spirit which would make us tear down the temple of industry in which we live because we are not satisfied with some of the details of its management."—President Roosevelt at Fitchburg, Mass., Sept. 2, 1902.

"It remains true now as it always has been, that in the last resort the country districts are those in which we are surest to find the old American spirit, the old American habits of thought and ways of living. Conditions have changed in the country far less than they have changed in the cities, and in consequence there has been little breaking away from the methods of life which have produced the great majority of the leaders of the Republic in the past."—President Roosevelt at Bangor, Me., Aug. 27, 1902.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Oct. 10th, 1904.

Editor Press:—

Yesterday thousands of people assembled inside and outside of St. John's Episcopal church, in this city, to attend the funeral of Postmaster General Payne. The streets were blocked for a long distance around Lafayette Square and the Arlington hotel. The services began at 11 o'clock, and continued for one half hour. Among those in the audience were the President, and Mrs. Roosevelt, dressed in black. Admiral Dewey; and Chinese and Japanese ministers; the General of the Army; Gen. Black and wife, Mr. Justice Harlan and Mr. Justice Brown of the Supreme Court, with his bride; and many other officials, together with such of the Cabinet officers as are in the town. The display of flowers was very elaborate. When the casket was taken to the depot the hearse was proceeded by 200 letter carriers who marched four file front. A few carriages followed filled with members of the family and the pallbearers. The President looked in the best of health and spirits. Those nearest to him say he is very optimistic regarding the political situation. Mr. Cortelyou came on from New York to attend the funeral. Afterwards he went to the White House. As he was about to leave he said: "Mr. President I believe you will win, and you will win without a promise, express or implied, having been given a corporation, interest or individual in exchange for support." This is taken to be an answer to a lenghty attack recently made upon the President by a New York daily paper. A few days ago a delegation of Philadelphia citizens, headed by Senator Penrose, called upon the President to ask him to revoke a recent order from the War Department, which would take work away from some 3,000 widows and wives of old soldiers and give it to contractors. It seems the War Office wants 55,000 pairs of dress trousers and sought the cheapest contractor, regardless of the fact that heretofore these women have done the work. The President immediately canceled the order and dictated a letter of inquiry to the Secretary of War, asking why it was issued. He promised that an investigation shall be made. The seamstresses were delighted with their reception, and will hold a thank-offering meeting in Philadelphia. Senator Foraker has been in town, and assures the President that in his opinion Indiana, Wisconsin, and Nebraska will give Republican pluralities.

The Old Boys' Club, just organized in this city, of which President Roosevelt has been elected a member; is a Republican organization, the object of which is to use all lawful means in its power to assist in the election of a Republican President of the United States next November, and to secure to the American people "the greatest good to the greatest number." There are no fees, which is remarkable. The organization is composed of men who voted for Fremont or Lincoln. It is the purpose of the club to reach every community in the United States. Those who wish can wear a Fremont and Lincoln button. The motto of the club is: "A party fit to govern must have convictions."

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Boschee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough racked consumptive. New trial bottles, 25; large size, 75c. At all druggists. 49-ly.

Broke Into His House.

S. Le Quinn, of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure, 25c at L. Taggart's Drug Store.

The Most Fatal Disease.

Diseases of the kidneys cause more deaths than any other one class of diseases. Most people who have kidney disease do not know they have it. The first symptons are neither not noticed or mistaken for something else. This is why insurance companies always require a strict analysis of urine before granting insurance. Thompson's Barosma will at once relieve any congestion or inflamation of the kidneys and has make remarkable cures in Bright's disease, sciatica and all diseases of the kidneys and liver. Saved Two From Death.

The Delineator for November.

Those who follow every caprice of Fashion, as well as those who have only the usual desire to appear becomingly dressed, will find the November Delineator exceptionally interesting and suggestive, while in the matter of fiction and general literature an equally high standard is maintained. The second part of Richard Le Gallienne's exquisite dream tale, "Poet, Take thy Lute!" contains some inimitable lyrics, and there is also a curious tale of the Western Coast by Ethel Watts Mumford, and a short story by Dane Coolidge, "Lone Turkey of Pinal," containing many elements of interest and originality. W. Jay Mills has procured the material for a most interesting chronicle of the social events and personages of Old New York, which is given in this number of the magazine and illustrated with photographs never before published. W. G. Fitz-Gerald tells the story of the trials and heroism of the woman missionary abroad in an article that is graphically illustrated, and the romance of Mozart and his Constance is related in the "Composers" series. Dress in its relation to health is discussed by Dr. Grace Peckham Murray, and there is a delightful paper in the "Joy of Living" series, which for the young people, Clara Morris, Ada Marie Peck and Albert Bigelow Paine contribute pleasant and instructive reading. The interests of the home are treated thoroughly, with regard for the special demands of the Thanksgiving season.

It takes some men an hour to make a 10-minute speech.

QUEER SOLOMON OAKS.

A queer old fellow is Solomon Oaks;
He belongs to the good-natured order of folks;
He sings and he whistles about the work
And nobody has ever known him to shirk,
And he makes you think, with his blithe good cheer,
Of the merry blackbirds when spring is here.

If they come to him with a doleful tale
Of a neighbor's faults, they always fail
To rouse attention to what they tell.
At such a time he can't hear very well;
But if they praise up a neighbor—then
He can hear as well as the best of men.

He always indorses the good things said
By his friends of the living as well as the dead.
If he's asked what he thinks of a man gone wrong,
He'll pause, perhaps, in his cheerful song,
And say: "I'm sorry, but there must be
Some good to his credit, it seems to me."

"I haven't time to keep track," says he,
"Of the sad things and bad things that I might see
If I was to look for them; so I try
To shut my eyes as I pass them by,
And see only good things along the way—
And I find a lot of them every day.

"By always having something to do
I keep out of trouble and mischief, too.
I stick to my business, as best I can,
And keep on good terms with my fellow-man—
And the better I treat him, it seems to me,
The better my fellow-man treats me."

A queer old fellow, this Solomon Oaks,
With his merry laugh and his pleasant jokes,
And his faith in his fellows, said or sung.
He's a host of friends among old and young.
He makes them and keeps them by smile and song,
And the word that helps us when things go wrong.

His life holds a lesson 'twere well to learn:
Shut your eyes to the bad; all the good discern;
Keep busy; be cheerful; and aim to make
This old world better for love's sweet sake.
Queer? Well, it may be; but this I say:
More of such queerness we need to-day.

Bucking the Trust

By W. Y. SHEPPARD

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

LANGLEY had a cigar store on Locust street. It had taken him two years to raise the business to a point where it could support itself and Langley. When it arrived at that point his sole ambition was to raise it one notch higher; that is, to where it could support itself and Langley, and at the same time pay off each month part of the debt which had descended upon them during the period of nonsupport.

For a time it seemed as if Langley would succeed, as he was an enterprising, energetic young fellow, shrewd beyond his years. Then one day Mr. A. P. Rockway, the local representative of the cigar trust, blew into his store.

He had heard that Langley was pushing a local brand of cigars to the detriment of the trust goods.

"Look here, Langley," said the trust's man, "this has got to stop. I like you well enough personally; but business is business."

Langley tried to explain that the increasing demand for the local cigars was not due to any effort of his. But Rockway knew better.

"You've got to cut Turner & Co.'s goods out," he said, "or we'll cut you."

Now Langley was not a man to be dictated to, and he fired up right away.

"If you think you can do it, go ahead," he retorted. "I've got the only cigar store in the block. And what's more, you can't rent a store in this block. They're all leased except Miss Child's, the millinery shop, next door; and she owns that. Now, if you think you can run me out, try it."

"We'll try it, and we'll do it," snapped the trust man, as he flung himself out of Langley's store.

Two days later Langley was greatly surprised and a good deal chagrined at seeing a big transfer wagon loaded with glass showcases halt in front of the millinery store next door. Before night the cases had been installed and filled, every one of them, with trust cigars. Miss Childs, now no longer a milliner, stood behind the counter, dispensing cigars and smiles in a way that made Langley feel sick at heart.

During the next week Langley's trade fell off distressingly. And no wonder, when the shop next door was selling five-cent cigars three for ten and ten-cent cigars four for a quarter, to say nothing about the smiles that were given so lavishly with each purchase.

Of course, Langley met the cut in prices; but the half-hearted grin he gave away was not nearly so valuable to the smokers as was the charming smile they received next door. The natural consequences were that Langley's trade dropped off more and more each day; and the business soon fell back to a point where, instead of supporting itself and Langley, it supported neither.

It was just four weeks after Langley's defy to the trust that Rockway again blew into the store.

"Business pretty good, Langley?" he asked, after answering the young man's surly nod with a broad smile.

Langley did not condescend to reply. So the trust man went on:

"Heard you wanted to sell out. I'd like to make you an offer, but can't, you know. We've made a contract with the young lady next door to supply her with cigars at the market price for ten years. By-the-way, a pretty shrewd business woman she is, too. Made us agree not to sell anyone else in this block for the whole term of the contract. But that's all right, I guess. She's doing a dandy business; that's what she is. Oh, well, old fellow, if you don't care to discuss it—ta-ta. I think I see your finish, and pretty soon, too."

Langley spent a bad night. There were two notes falling due next month; and he had heard from good authority that they had been bought by Rockway. Truly Langley found bucking the trust a very unprofitable occupation.

Next morning he started for the store early. As he was in the act of passing the one-time millinery shop, he heard an energetic banging at the door. Turning, he saw a sweet, though rather flushed face bending over a lock while two white, dimpled hands were making vigorous, yet vain, efforts to turn a key.

For a moment Langley did a very ungentlemanly thing. He felt glad that his neighbor and rival was in trouble. But this was only for a moment. Another instant found him saying:

"Allow me, madam." He took the key from her hands, and after a mighty wrench threw open the door.

"Thank you, very much, Mr. Langley," smiled the young woman, who had now recovered her breath, but on whose face the blush still lingered. "I don't believe I ever would have opened it. Will you not come in? It's too early for any busines yet awhile."

Langley stammered an excuse for not accepting the invitation; then, strange to say, walked right in.

No wonder trade had left Langley. It was worth the price of several cigars just to enter the dainty little shop. Everything was spick and span. There were flowers blooming on the counter, and tall rubber plants and ferns setting in the corners. Inviting leather-cushioned chairs were standing against the wall, which was dotted here and there with cute little pictures. And there were curtains, lacy-looking curtains, at the windows. That was why Langley had never been able to see inside the place before. Now that he had seen, it was no longer a mystery to him why his customers, even some of the most anti-trust ones, had forsaken him. To tell the truth, Langley did not blame them, either.

"Won't you sit down, Mr. Langley?" asked the young woman, after enjoying his evident astonishment for a short time.

Langley sat down. It certainly was a comfortable chair. And the cigar that she gave him—he did not know that the trust made such good cigars. Langley took three or four long draws; then he sighed. The trust man was right. He saw his finish.

After that day Langley formed a new habit, which was to come down early every morning. And it was strange how often the little used-to-be milliner had trouble unlocking her door. Of course, Langley had to stop and help her. Nearly every morning she vowed to have a new lock put on before night. But for some unaccountable reason the old lock remained.

After unlocking the door, Langley would often sit down in one of the comfortable chairs almost surrounded by rubber plants and ferns, and smoke a trust cigar which the young woman had given him. While he smoked they would talk. He couldn't help from telling her something about his troubles, she was so sympathetic. And Langley always sighed heavily when the time came to leave the comfortable chair for his own unattractive shop.

One day, however, Langley stayed a ful hour later than was his custom. And he forgot to sigh when he left. Instead, he hummed merrily to himself all the time he was sweeping and dusting out his store.

Trade was even duller than usual that day; but Langley didn't seem to mind one bit. He even bowed and smiled genialy to his old friends whenever he saw them going in or coming out the shop next door—a thing Langley had never done before, for he had grown to look on all who traded there as his enemies.

About three o'clock that afternoon, when there wasn't a soul in the store except himself, Langley saw Rockway, the trust's agent, coming down the street. He stopped for a moment, with a satisfied smile on his face, before the shop next door. Then he came on to Langley's.

"Hello," he cried, as he stepped in, noting at the same time that there was not a single customer in the store. "Business pretty good?"

"Well, it might be worse," Langley answered, with a smile. "How are they doing next door?"

"Oh, fine. That little woman's got the best business head on her shoulders I ever saw. And she's mighty pretty, too—don't you think so?"

"Very," replied Langley. And his smile broadened.

"I'm glad we got her to go into that ten-year contract. To tell the truth, that was our last hope. You'd have had us but for that. And say, Langley," the trust man went on, "I heard you were going into a new business. What is it this time?"

"Matrimony," replied Langley, jerking his head toward the shop next door. "No ten-year contract, either. This one's for life."

Well, to Rockway's credit let it be said took defeat with a good grace and danced at Langley's wedding with as light a step as the bridegroom himself.

Mosquito Bite Remedies.

Not only in America, but in Europe as well, have mosquitoes been exceptionally abundant this year. Ammonia, the remedy commonly used in this country, is condemned by a German physician, who says it does not prevent the effect of a bite from remaining several days. He recommends holding the place bitten for a few seconds, and repeatedly, in hot steam, which, he says, promptly relieves the itching and pain. Another remedy superior to ammonia is alum dissolved in alcohol and rubbed in vigorously. To keep mosquitoes away at night, rub the face, neck and hands with lemon juice.

NEWS FROM WAR ARENA

JAPS SHOWED GREAT BRAVERY.

London, Oct. 6.—A news agency here late last night sent out a dispatch dated Tokio, October 5, saying: "It is reported that the Russian squadron made a sortie from Port Arthur today and that a great naval battle occurred." No details are given.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 6.—Emperor Nicholas has received Gen. Stoessel's official report of the desperate four days' assault of the besiegers upon Port Arthur, from September 19 to September 23, from which it appears that the unofficial report from Che Foo was by no means exaggerated. The Japanese displayed frenzied bravery, but they lost 10,000 men and their only success was the capture of two redoubts guarding the waterworks. They prepared for the assault by a general bombardment and then launched their attacks simultaneously from the north and west. Night and day they fought under cover of a continual bombardment from their siege guns and finally reached the redoubts on the north side.

The Japanese efforts were directed chiefly against the commanding position on High Mountain, which faces Pigeon Bay, slightly south of Fort Etse. The mountain is 500 feet high and if it had fallen its possession would have given the Japanese a tremendous lever against the chain of inner defences. The carnage there was terrible and culminated September 22, when the Japanese succeeded in reaching and occupying the Russian armored shelter trenches.

During the night Lieut. Poggorsky, of the navy, at the head of a detachment of volunteers, descended upon the trenches and blew them up with pyroxylin bombs, producing a panic among the besiegers, who fled, leaving the mountainside strewn with dead. The Japanese then abandoned further attempts.

THE COST OF WAR.

Tokio, Oct. 7.—In addressing the members of the united clearing houses of Tokio yesterday Count Okuma, the leader of the progressive party, warned the people to prepare for a long war, the date of the termination of which it was now impossible to foretell. He predicted that the cost to Japan for a two years' war, including the loans which had been already placed and the expenses consequent upon the war at its termination would total one billion dollars, which would make the per capita share amount to twenty dollars.

The count predicted that it would be necessary for the Japanese government to borrow $250,000,000 next year and added that if $75,000,000 were secured abroad the country must face a depreciation in the value of its securities.

The Port Arthur blockading fleet has captured a junk laden with provisions. The junk was endeavoring to enter the barbor. The statements of the crew and evidence found aboard the junk indicate the existence of a fleet of 80 junks, organized to run the blockade from the vicinity of Tsingtau.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 7.—While the admiralty claims to have no knowledge of the departure of the Port Arthur squadron, it is inferrable from the way in which the report that such an event had transpired has been received, that definite confirmation would not create surprise. No direct orders have been sent to Admiral Wiren to break through the blockading fleet, but it is admitted that he has discretionary powers to leave Port Arthur should the situation demand or conditions be propitious.

LITTLE INFORMATION.

London, Oct. 8.—No information bearin on the military situation in Manchuria is contained in Friday's dispatches. Tokio reports that four Russian warships were damaged by the fire of the Japanese land batteries during recent fighting at Port Arthur, one of the vessels being destroyed.

The Hanna Mausoleum.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 8.—The children of the late Marcus A. Hanna are to erect a $100,000 mausoleum in the family lot at Lake View cemetery, Cleveland, to contain 18 catacombs for the Hanna family. In the center will lie two mammoth sarcophagi of pure Norwegian marble. One will contain the body of Senator Hanna, the other will be the final resting place of Mrs. Hanna. With the exception of the sarcophagi, the entire structure is to be of Troy white granite. It will be 40 feet long, 25 wide and 24 high, in the simple style of the Greek temple. A Worcester concern has been awarded the contract.

The Nebraska is Launched.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 8.—In the presence of a multitude of onlookers and christened by a daughter of the governor of the state for which she is named, Uncle Sam's latest battleship, Nebraska, was launched from the ways of the Moran Brothers Co. yesterday. Gov. Mickey, of Nebraska, and his party participated in the ceremonies. The Nebraska is the first battleship constructed on the Pacific coast north of San Francisco.

Rescinded the Order.

Washington, Oct. 6.—For half a century the war department has had soldiers' clothing made at the Schuylkil arsenal, Philadelphia, by the widows and orphan children of soldiers. Recently the department decided to have the work done by contract, purely as a business proposition. The action of the department, which meant the throwing out of employment of hundreds of women, aroused much comment in Philadelphia, and steps were taken to have the order rescinded by the president, who did so yesterday.

THE KEGS WERE LIGHTER.

Dr. Lorimer's Easy Explanation of an Apparently Difficult Performance.

Rev. George C. Lorimer, whose death at Aix was recently reported, was the main impetus that carried on the building of Boston's magnificent Tremont Temple, and Dr. Lorimer's wit, sincerity and imaginative sympathy made him a great favorite with the students of Harvard during his residence in Boston.

At Cambridge, one day, according to a current story, an undergraduate asked the opinion of Dr. Lorimer on drinking—moderate drinking.

"I am opposed to it," the clergyman said. "It is perilous. It frequently leads to drunkenness. In fact, most drunkards were moderate drinkers first."

"Naturally malt liquors and wines, though, are strengthening, aren't they?" the student asked.

Dr. Lorimer smiled.

"Beer," he said, "is very strengthening. I have known young men to have sent to their rooms large kegs of beer that they could not budge at first, and a day or two later they would be able to lift these kegs with ease."

THE PASS WAS GRANTED.

Young Man of Facile Reasoning Ability Has Only Once to Ask for It.

A young man who was working for the railroad company went to one of the directors and asked for a pass to some distant point, relates the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"You have been working for us some time?" inquired the official.

"Yes, sir," the young fellow answered.

"Have you ever had any complaint to make?"

"No, sir," answered the employe.

"Well, if you were working for a farmer, would you have the nerve to ask him to harness his horses and take you to a certain part of the country?" the director asked.

"No, sir. But if he had his horses all ready, and was going to that point, I would call him a very mean farmer if he refused to take me," was the young fellow's reply.

Looked That Way.

When a young woman at Allentown, Pa., entered the proper office alone the other day and asked for a marriage license, the clerk naturally inquired: "Where is the young man?" "I've got him at home," rejoined the woman, and the license was granted. Wonder if she had him chained. —Boston Globe.

IN GREAT DISTRESS

VOMITING SPELLS LONG RESISTED EVERY EFFORT TO CHECK.

Mrs. Brooks Became So Weak She Thinks She Would Have Died But For Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Sarah L. Brooks, of No. 45 Lincoln Park, Chicago, Illinois, gives the following account of her cure from distressing spells of vomiting:

"For five years off and on I was treated in vain by different doctors for relief from a stomach trouble which showed itself in frequent and trying spells of vomiting. Part of the time I was able to work and again I would be confined to bed for three or four days in succession.

"My stomach was at times so delicate that it would not retain even plain water. The spells would sometimes occur at intervals of half an hour, and would leave me so weak that I would be compelled to lie down between them. I would have several of them during the night following a day of such attacks. Finally I became so weakened that I had to give up working altogether. I weighed only ninety-four pounds.

"Last January I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in one of the Chicago daily papers and bought a box and began to use them. After I had used half a box I found that I could keep on my stomach the food I ate. I was encouraged by this and kept on using the pills for four months. At the end of that time the vomiting spells had ceased altogether and my weight went up to 142 pounds and is still growing.

"I think I surely would have died if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I sometimes vomited clear blood, and for three or four days at a time I could not eat a bite of anything. One doctor said I had chronic inflammation of the stomach, and another said my difficulty was a cancer, but none of their medicines did me any good at all. Finally I concluded that I did not have blood enough to digest my food and I began the treatment that has cured me. I can eat anything now, and have strength for all kinds of work. I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on hand, and I recommend them to my friends because I know they cured me."

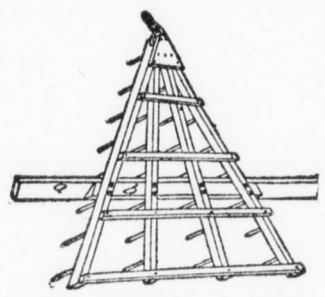
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills agree with the most delicate stomachs and strengthen the digestive organs until they do their work perfectly. They are sold by all druggists

LEVELING THE SEED BED.

Here's a Drag That Levels Two or Three Times as Fast as the Harrow Pulverizer.

It is a common practice among wheat growers to drill wheat in the plowed ground, unharrowed and unpulverized. Some of the seed is covered two or three times deeper than other by this method. The ground, no matter how loose, should be level in order that correct drilling can be done. Ground that breaks up cloddy should be disked, harrowed with an A-harrow after a rain or rolled, preferably when the ground has enough moisture to crumble the clods.

Much land only needs leveling. In this case I put a 2x6 oak plank, a b, 12



PLANK FASTENED IN DRAG.

14 or 16 feet long, between the third or fourth set of teeth from the back of an A-harrow so that it extends evenly on each side for several feet. The top of this plank should be inclined toward the front, which position can be maintained by fastening a triangular timber on the upper edge of the plank directly between the teeth and bolting to the harrow frame.

This device levels two or three times as fast as the harrow pulverizes the surface and is very satisfactory even in stumpy and rocky ground. Some farmers use a long pole or rail instead of plank. Whatever you use, be sure it is perfectly straight.—E. W. Jones, in Farm and Home.

THE DANDELION DIES HARD

Gardeners Have Hard Work in Trying to Get Rid of This Pernicious Weed.

In some parts of the country gardeners consider the dandelion a valuable crop to grow for the market. But while these people are studying methods of culture that will be more favorable to its development there are others who are equally anxious to find a way to get rid of it. To the latter the Denver Field and Farm does not offer much encouragement. It says:

"The dandelion has become one of our most pernicious weeds within a few years and the pest is spreading in spite of all efforts to get rid of them. Many a lover of a pretty lawn has tried to eradicate them by cutting out with a knife, but the fact is that when we cut off the crown an inch or two below the ground we simply multiply the number of plants. The side roots start into business for themselves, forming new crowns. If we do not cut, the seeds give new plants and so extermination is rather a hopeless task. Where the plants are very thick the only thing to do is to destroy the old sod, kill out the roots and re-seed heavily with grass. Where the plants are few in number it may be just as well to imagine that they add beauty to the lawn and try to enjoy their presence. Of course the roots can be killed by the free use of blue vitriol, but each spot so treated will remain bare for years."

LITTLE DAIRY POINTERS.

Cream irregularly ripened makes streaked butter.

Dry salt cannot be worked into dry butter successfully.

The cows should be thoroughly acquainted with the milkers.

Never breed a "kicky" cow. Your herd needs cows, not mules.

Soured milk affects the cream injuriously. Get the cream off in time.

Never put a fine cow in the care of a poor milker. The milker makes or unmakes the cow.

Dirt in milk makes more undesirable butter than all the wrong methods of working. No perfection of working out buttermilk and working in salt can secure the proper flavor of butter from dirty milk.

Some cows set the "dairy marks" of the experts at defiance and give large yields of good milk. All the same, the good dairy cow should show certain feature in size, shape and general make-up.—N. Y. Farmer.

Storing Vegetables in Caves.

In our experience the best way to keep vegetables is to put them in a cave, conveniently near the house. Dig the cave deep enough so it can have about three feet of earth over the top to prevent freezing, and large enough to hold several loads of potatoes, besides other vegetables you may wish to store. Have two doors, one at the foot of the stairs and a trap door above. Put the potatoes in bins, and have a bin of sand in which to store carrots, parsnips, beets, salsify and any other roots you may have. If the sand becomes dry it should be moistened at intervals. In this way the roots will keep fresh and crisp till late in the spring. Cabbages will keep nicely if pulled by the roots and placed close together with the heads down.—Mrs. J. F. Luke, in St. Louis Republic.

TO INVESTIGATE MILK DIET.

$10,000,000 Rockefeller Institute Will Search for Cause of Mortality Among Babies.

Monkeys fed on bread and milk rarely live more than three or four years, though their natural lifetime in the wild state is from 25 to 30 years at least. Their bread and milk diet is held to be conducive to tuberculosis. These facts are to be used as the basis of exhaustive experimental work in the $10,000,000 hospital that is being built here by John D. Rockefeller as a memorial to his grandson, little John Rockefeller McCormick, son of Harold McCormick, of Chicago.

The child died of "summer complaint," and one province of the hospital, the construction of which has just been begun, will be to investigate in the hope of finding a specific for this disease, which is the most common cause of infant mortality. Special attention will be paid to milk and water supplies, as it is considered that the prime source of "summer complaint" is in milk and water.

Mr. Rockefeller already has set aside $1,250,000 for the Rockefeller institute for medical research, which will be the largest institution of its kind in the world, and it is understood he is planning ultimately to devote eight or ten times that amount to this great enterprise. Now that work has actually begun on the first laboratory and animal-house, some of the details of the enterprise are made public.

One of the most distinctive features of this institution will be an elaborately contrived building for a large variety of animals to be used in the experiments. Provision has been made to maintain a temperature in each case to accord with the climate to which the various species are accustomed. The building will have a roof garden, with cages for such animals as are accustomed to live in the open air.

Should Not Get Reckless.

King Peter succeeded in getting himself crowned without the firing of a shot. If he is wise, however, remarks the Chicago Record-Herald, he will keep right on compelling the cook to taste his victuals first.

Two severe cases of Ovarian Trouble and two terrible operations avoided. Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Coleman each tell how they were saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.

Another Case of Ovarian Trouble Cured Without an Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For several years I was troubled with ovarian trouble and a painful and inflamed condition, which kept me in bed part of the time. I did so dread a surgical operation.

"I tried different remedies hoping to get better, but nothing seemed to bring relief until a friend who had been cured of ovarian trouble, through the use of your compound, induced me to try it. I took it faithfully for three months, and at the end of that time was glad to find that I was a well woman. Health is nature's best gift to woman, and if you lose it and can have it restored through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel that all suffering women should know of this."—MRS. LAURA BELLE COLEMAN, Commercial Hotel, Nashville, Tenn.

It is well to remember such letters as above when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good" That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; accept no other and you will be glad.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health. A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA

Herb Tea

Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, chronic constipation, sick head ache, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1903.

Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.:

Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After tossing about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. The doctor seemed to be able to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and drank a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a sleepless night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,

A Trip to The County Fair.

FIRST DAY.

The Directors thought it hardly fair
To keep the boys and girls from the County Fair,
So two half days were granted
And the boys and girls were landed.
The wind blew off our hats,
And all the girls yelled "rats."
The coffee and sandwiches were fine,
And the W. R. C. served our dinner on time.
The stock exhibit first we saw
And, of course, according to law,
The animals were let their way,
For it was only a Cameron county display.
The races were next at the manager's will,
And Tom, the lucky boy, got the $1 bill.
The sack race aroused quite a laughter,
And the May pole dance came after.
The ball game was next in line,
And the game was certainly fine.
The Leans thought it hardly fair
Because the Fats got there.
The bus run from the city all day,
Although many walked the way.
The pumpkin and squash, I must not forget,
For Hobson and Cousens, thought, was quite it.

SECOND DAY.

Of course, on the second day,
Emporium's band was headed that way.
The hose companies marched in line
And the weather man used us fine.
The balloon, first we saw,
Burn up like a piece of straw.
The baby show was next
And many mothers were vexed.
The base ball nines
Drew up in lines
To have their pictures taken.
While the girls on the bank looked forsaken.
The game was next, and aroused them all,
From big Ben Listen
To little Tom Law.
And Jimmy Murphy disgraced his race,
Although he was padded from head to base.
The Leans had their way
And won the second day.
And that was the end of our County Fair.

How to Retain Youth.

Middle aged and aged people can retain their youthfulness by keeping certain organs in a healthy condition. In a man the liver and kidneys will cause him to look, feel and act careworn. In a woman the liver and organs peculiar to her sex will give her a careworn, sallow, wrinkled look and dragged out feelings. All this can be avoided by Thompson's Barosma. It builds up and strengthens all those functions, giving renewed youth. Thompson's Barosma retains youth. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

To think well you must eat and drink well.

Pill Pleasure.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what pill pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not gripe, sicken or weaken, but pleasantly give tone and strength to the tissues and organs of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Two are needed to start a quarrel, but one can stop it.

A Cure Guaranteed.

Many people after taking certain remedies are to all appearances cured but the question always arises, "Do they stay cured?" The great claim for that splendid remedy, Thompson's Barosma, backache, Kidney and Liver Cure is that it makes a decided and lasting cure and that the general health is restored. Send for circulars of testimonials to E. K. Thompson & Son, Titusville, Pa. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

NOTICE THIS COAT

It has the look that the great artist gives to a picture—that look the ordinary tailor would go crazy trying to produce. Its mighty fine tailoring and only the best craftsman can make these garments. The cheap ready-made concerns don't even think of such a thing.

The makers of our best Clothing,

Kirschbaum, of Philadelphia

have brought out many new ideas in high grade Clothing this season and it is a pleasure for us to show them to you. When you try them on you will realize that all we say about them is not half enough.
